

CIRCULAR REAL ESTATE

How do we finance and who pays for the circular construction of the future?

In 2020 there is much talk about circular construction. Still, many investors regard circular real estate projects as 'ethical' investments, rather than profitable business opportunities.

How do we reduce the risk for investors, and who will finance the risk? And can architects, developers and other organizations convince investors in Denmark and abroad that circular construction is not only sustainable, but a good business opportunity?
